

Suspected funnel clips city homes

This home in Hunsley Hills was hit by a suspected funnel cloud about 9 p.m. Friday. The home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Burns formerly of Clarendon, sustained heavy damage to the roof. The Burns were to have moved into the home Saturday.

Swirling and fast-moving Panhandle skies spawned a funnel cloud which decapitated two homes in Canyon and dumped as much as 2½ inches of rain and hail over Randall County in two separate storm systems Friday night and early Saturday.

Two new homes in the Hunsley Hills addition of Canyon were heavily damaged by a funnel cloud which apparently dipped from the clouds about 9 p.m. Friday. One house was to be occupied Saturday by a Clarendon family.

A funnel cloud was spotted by citizens about 5 miles north of the city as a part of the initial storm system which moved through the Canyon area during the early part of the evening.

No funnel clouds were spotted by law enforcement officers who watched clouds from various vantage points during the evening.

No injuries were reported as a result of the tornadic or hail action Friday or Saturday.

Two mobile homes north of Canyon were reportedly overturned by high winds, but no injuries were reported.

A sudden drop in atmospheric pressure was said to be the cause of glass breakage at one Canyon home and a woman at the Cowboy Cafe reported the window glass in her car was blown out under the low pressure.

Residents in a home at Buffalo Lake reported golfball to tennis ball size hail knocked out all windows on the north side of their house during the storm.

Heavy hail, ranging in size from that of a pea to golfball, was reported between Canyon and UMBarger around 11 p.m.

An initial storm system, brewed in the skies around Tucumcari, N.M., moved east into the Canyon-Amarillo area before 9 p.m. Friday with the southern tip of the system crowding the skies above the city.

Mike Urton, of No. 6 Greenwood in Hunsley Hills, said his wife Lavada was standing at the door of their home about 9:15 p.m. when she saw the roof of a home on a street just to the west of Greenwood fly through the air.

"She yelled 'run!'" Urton said, and the Urtons took shelter in a closet.

When they emerged about 10 minutes later, they again went to their door, walked onto their driveway and discovered that the roof of a home at No. 8 Greenwood had been blown off.

The new home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Burns of Clarendon, was just finished. The front half of the roof had been removed by the apparent funnel cloud.

Burns said he and his wife and daughter were to begin moving into the home on Saturday.

The other home in Hunsley Hills sustained heavy roof damage but the roof

Bicentennial committee seeks official OK

Project proposals ranging across a broad spectrum of historical and current activities have been submitted to the state and national American Revolution Bicentennial Committees seeking formal recognition of Randall County as an official bicentennial celebration center.

Dr. Duane Guy, professor of history at West Texas State University, said official recognition from the state and national committees would make the Randall County-Canyon committee eligible for any funds which might be available for the various planned projects.

Three subcommittees of the general county-city committee have finished work on initial project proposals which will culminate in 1976, the bicentennial year.

Randall County commissioners and Canyon city commissioners have endorsed the project proposals submitted for consideration by the state and national committees.

Dr. Guy said the initial proposals could be altered and more projects might be added as the committee continues its work.

Once the official recognition of the area is consummated, work will begin on implementing the projects, he said, even if full funding is not available through the governments.

"Some of the things are already in the planning stages," he said. "If the money is available, we'll do as much as we can. We hope to accomplish these before 1976, but whether that's feasible remains to be seen."

Proposals for projects from the Heritage Committee, Horizons Committee and Festival Committee under the general city-county committee include such activities as remodeling of historical sites, erection of monuments for historical areas and various other possibilities.

Dr. Fred Rathjen is chairman of the Heritage Committee, Claire Kuhen is chairman of the Horizons Committee and Jane Stephens is chairman of the Festival Committee.

Heritage Committee projects include an oral history project which will have as its major function the interviewing of the many second and third generation descendants living in the county who might be able to recollect their early days here.

Transcriptions of the interviews will be on deposit with the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

In conjunction with the oral history project, the committee will also seek out and collect business, municipal, school and private records.

Already in the planning stages as a committee project is the restoration and preservation of the original T-Anchor ranch house which is located on WTSU land just north of Canyon. Current plans call for construction of a roadside park and rest area around the ranch house. The committee will work with the Randall County Historical Survey Committee, Randall County commissioners, WTSU and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society on this project.

Another focal point for the committee will be Palo Duro Canyon and the approximate route taken by the Spanish explorer, Coronado in his travels through the canyon area.

The committee will also work on an appropriate monument to Col. Charles Goodnight, the first cattle rancher in the Panhandle, who made his home in a dugout in the canyon.

A major project for the Horizons Committee will be development of a visitors center at the South Randall County Hospital, now under construction in east Canyon.

The center will be immediately adjacent to the new hospital and is

City may join with others to study SWPS rate hike

Canyon could join with other towns to completely study a 10 per cent rate hike request from Southwestern Public Service Co. for electric service in the area, City Manager George Louder said this week after reviewing the formal company proposal.

Louder said a joint study by several cities of the rate hike request might not be feasible, but that a study would be made of the request nonetheless.

He said he has talked with several city managers from Panhandle-area cities about the possibility of forming a committee to study the rate increases asked by the company.

Canyon has joined with other cities in the area to form the West Texas Utilities Committee for the purpose of studying rate increase proposals from Pioneer Natural Gas Co. in the past.

But, Louder said joint action on an electric company rate hike is made more difficult because increases are not altogether similar in each city served by the company.

In Canyon the company has requested a rate hike which will mean an 8.9 per cent increase for the average residential electricity user.

"I don't know whether we can join with other municipalities," Louder said. "But, rates have been filed in all the other cities so that indicates there should be some element that could be reviewed jointly."

Louder said if joint action to study the rate request is not feasible, the city will perform its own study, probably with consulting engineers and the city attorney.

"I assure you there'll be a detailed study and hopefully we can give it the review that something of this magnitude requires," he said.

Louder said the city commission, as rate-controlling authority over the electric, gas and telephone companies, has a dual responsibility in considering rate hike requests.

"The commission is interested in keeping Southwestern Public Service Co. a viable and responsive utility company and it is also charged with the res-

New WT degree program studied for implementation

West Texas State University faculty and administrative committees are working on a new degree program which if instituted would put the Canyon college among the frontrunners in educational innovation.

Dr. Ray A. Malzahn, academic vice president, returned to the campus Thursday after a week-long meeting out-of-state, and said several committees have been eyeing a new baccalaureate degree program which was the main topic of discussion at the sessions he attended.

He said planning on the program is in the infant stage at this point, but that the university is pursuing the program with the intention of submitting a proposal to the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. In fact, guidelines on preparation of such a program are expected to come from the board.

The new program is called by some "the inverted degree," Malzahn said, and is a much-talked about concept which would open new avenues for higher education for those who certification in vocational or technical type areas.

If approved and implemented, the program would join the bachelor of science and bachelor of arts degrees now offered at the undergraduate level by WTSU.

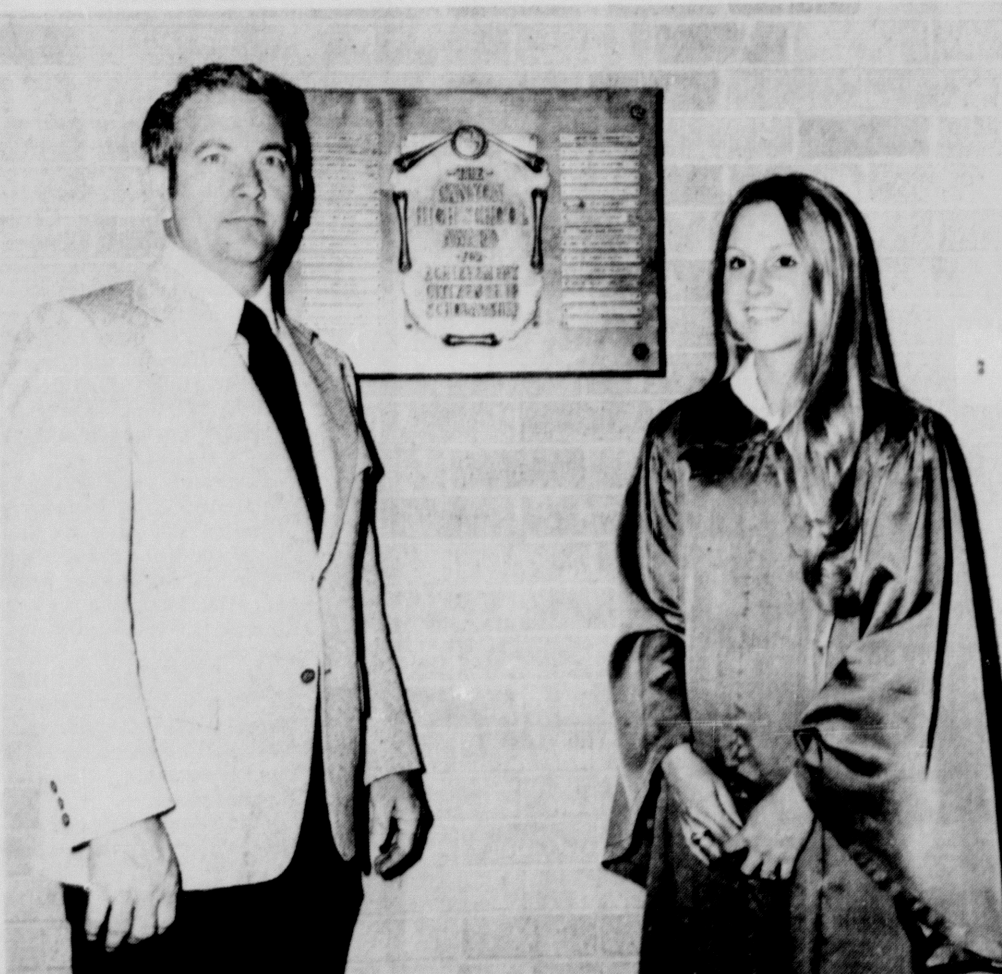

"It's a new route to the baccalaureate degree which takes full advantage of alternate backgrounds rather than classical academic ones," Malzahn said. In essence, the degree program would provide those with technical certification from two-year schools with an avenue to achieve a baccalaureate level degree.

Malzahn said the degree program is called "inverted" because the student who pursues the degree at WTSU will have already completed a two-year specialty course in a technical school. On the WTSU campus, then, he would be expected to pick up the more traditional core curriculum subjects to round out the degree requirements.

Most traditional college degree programs call for the student to finish core curriculum

County officials back judges bill

"It's like a three-ring circus down there," Judge Woody Pond sighed after returning Wednesday night from a full day of worrying over the Judiciary Article before the Austin constitutional convention.

County Commissioner Jim Fletcher spent the two first days of the week in Austin hovering over the legislators-turned-delegates who for a week have been eyeing the controversial article. Pond spent Wednesday in the state capital with the same purpose.

Pond and Fletcher were just two of dozens of county judges and commissioners who spent days in Austin last week talking with delegates to bring about the defeat of the judiciary article, an article Pond feels would reduce the power of county government.

Apparently the judges and commissioners lobbied effectively because the delegates twice last week downed the article and substitute amendments, propounded primarily by the convention's judiciary committee.

Key votes came Wednesday and under the nose of the commissioners and judges who sat in the gallery watching the floor action surrounding the convention's most controversial measure to date.

Pond and Fletcher were primarily interested in defeating a portion of the article which would have eliminated non-attorney county judges from the state's judiciary and would have put them, rather, in charge of the county administrative structure. The article called for creation of circuit county courts, one for each county which did not have an attorney county judge at the time of passage of the article.

A key transition measure attached to the article would have stripped non-attorney county judges of their judicial powers as of Jan. 1.

Objections to those sections, though, were not the only keys to the defeat of the article. Some delegates also objected to the inclusion in the article of a section allowing the state the right of appeal in certain criminal cases.

Pond said the delegates worked throughout the day Wednesday mulling over the article before voting that evening to

Memorial Day services set Monday in local cemetery

Memorial Day will be commemorated Monday with the closing of most Canyon businesses and governmental offices and with special ceremonies and services.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce has recommended that Monday be a closing holiday for all local businesses.

The county courthouse will be closed for the day as will the city offices. Banks will also be closed for business.

Canyon school children will be in classes on Monday in spite of the holiday and many will be taking final examinations.

Members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Lucius Penick Post of Canyon will meet at sunrise at Dreamland Cemetery south of the city to place more than 200 flags on the graves of veterans.

Then, they will host a Gold Star Mother's Breakfast from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the VFW Hall north of the city. Breakfast, free of charge, will be served to all mothers who lost sons in the service.

The VFW Auxiliary will present each mother with a corsage.

Auxiliary members will also be selling poppies throughout the day Monday.

The annual Memorial Day services sponsored by LaGrone Funeral Chapel will be held at 11:45 a.m. at Dreamland Cemetery in a special tent.

Members of the Amarillo U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Unit will be color guard and rifle squad for the ceremonies.

The Rev. Terry White, pastor of the First Christian Church, will deliver a brief address during the services.

All persons are welcome to attend the ceremonies. Those who have no transportation to the cemetery should contact LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Our World

Change Contribution

By ANN BROWN

The most common reason given by the dropouts from society is that "there should be more to life than working and paying bills."

One might think the weary round of working and paying bills is the reason suicides exceed homicides in almost every country in the world were it not for one fact: Suicide rates are highest in countries with the highest standard of living.

There is another fact the dropout from the work force seems to have overlooked: If he can't stand the pressure of paying his own bills, how can his neighbor endure the pressure of paying bills for both of them.

However, the fugitive from the daily grind is right about one thing: There must be more to it than working and paying bills, or life isn't worth living.

Man is emotional and spiritual as well as physical. And if the emotional and spiritual needs are unfulfilled, he is not likely to find life on the physical plane alone endurable.

Even newborn infants rarely survive in orphanages where only their physical needs are met. And their emotional and spiritual needs increase as they grow.

The well-adjusted person lives primarily on a three-dimensional plane: his home, his work, and his church.

One can manage fairly well as long as two planes of his existence are functioning satisfactorily. He can survive if he has a happy relationship in only one. But if all three are missing or miserable, he is not likely to last long.

It is understandable and commendable that the person existing on the physical plane alone is unhappy with his lot.

A comfortable home is basic to happiness. The material surroundings, however, have relatively little to do with comfort.

A warm, dry tent, with adequate food can be far more comfortable than a mansion. The deciding factor is not the living space nor the value of the furnishings, but the quality of love and peace within the walls.

One person living in a house does not make it a home. So the single person living alone is automatically reduced to life in two dimensions.

A happy work situation and a sweet church fellowship can make life quite fulfilling. But that leaves the retired person who lives alone with only one dimension: his church fellowship. Lacking that, he usually becomes a burden to his family and friends, a miserable recluse, or he dies.

The social dropout's primary complaint is: "I'm not getting enough out of life. The unhappy fellow has overlooked a basic natural law: Before one can harvest, one must plant.

Having given nothing to the world, he is getting nothing out of it.

There is a retired cabinet maker in our area, who is no longer able to lift a plane. But as he putters happily in his garden, he knows that the sturdiest, most beautiful, and most practical cabinets on the Golden Spread are products of his hands.

The majority of the people who enjoy and admire those cabinets do not even know the name of the man who built them. But he knows, and he is happy in the knowledge that he has made a genuine contribution to the world.

An ailing area writer has little hopes of writing again. Instead of bemoaning her lot, she rests happily on her laurels, while she reads her fan mail and collects her royalty checks. Having sown generously, she is reaping abundantly.

No one can give another person happiness, because one cannot solve another's fundamental problems; he must learn to solve them himself. If you persuade him to change mates or jobs, it only leaves him free to blame you when things go wrong.

Happiness depends first of all on what is in one's heart. No amount of external wealth or beautiful surroundings can produce happiness in a heart that is filled with envy, resentment, or hate.

The world usually gives back to us about what we give it. He who is not happy with what he is getting may need to evaluate what he has given.

He may want to change his contributions.

City Desk

Place Charges In Open

By CARROLL WILSON

Honest opposition to the construction of a new $1.3 million city hall is one thing. Deliberate distortion of the facts, however, is dishonest, damaging and hard to fight.

It is more than passing strange that Dr. Donald Todd, who drapes himself in the American flag to tramp from commissioners court to commissioners court throughout the Panhandle to spread the gospel of anti-regional planning in a self-proclaimed battle to protect local government from the greedy grasp of Washington bureaucrats, is a key figure in the Canyon effort to block construction of the city hall building.

More than strange because Dr. Todd's tactics, while they may be manifestations of the honest beliefs he holds, are exactly the tactics one might use to begin the destruction of local government.

Dr. Todd's campaign against the construction of the city hall is one of innuendo and half-truth. If he'd set out to try, he couldn't be doing more to erode the very government he vows he's trying to save with his campaign against regional planning commissions.

The campaign against the city hall is destructive because it clouds the basic issues, casts a heinous light on city commissioners, questions the basic honesty of those in city government and thus casts commissioners as devious men who will stop at nothing to provide the citizens of Canyon with a new city hall.

Isn't it a strange kind of logic which can figure that because city commissioners want to build a new city hall to replace four antiquated and shameful structures now passing for city facilities, they are participants in some kind of crime?

Yet, that's the very assumption of Donald Todd. A man basically suspicious of all government, Todd, I believe, looks at county and city government from the perspective of one who begins with the assumption that county and city commissioners are crooked.

Armed with that assumption, he began research into the city hall construction financing structure. His method of research, invalid even in junior high school civics classes, was to begin with his assumption and then select specific facts from the body of facts available to prove his point.

Todd's basic assumption leads him not to the finding that because taxes will not be raised to construct the city hall that construction is a palatable and desirable course of action to provide new city facilities, but to the finding that the city commissioners may not raise taxes but they're going to screw us financially through some other method.

Once Dr. Todd and Mrs. C. S. Thompson learned that city commissioners were prepared to repeatedly state publicly that taxes will not be raised to finance construction of the city hall, their innate belief in the crookedness of city officials led them on other trails of what can only be termed ludicrously selective research.

Thus, the production of a handbill last week citing a city ordinance passed in 1972 refunding city water works bonds.

The handbill was an attempt to prove that City Manager George Louder was manipulating funds from the water and sewer monies for use in the construction of the city hall.

The producers of the handbill were curiously selective in the ordinance sections they included in their pass-out sheet. They failed to include several key sections in the ordinance which in cold, straight English allow the city to use excess funds in the water and sewer fund "for any lawful purpose."

It goes without saying that construction of a city hall is a lawful function of city government.

In an advertisement in today's Canyon News, Todd through innuendo implies that if local residents cast their ballots for construction of the city hall, their votes will seriously endanger the city's water and sewer operations.

Figures produced by Louder, and I have no reason to believe they are not true and correct, provide indisputable proof that the use of water and sewer excess funds will in no way endanger the current or the future operation of the water and sewer systems.

If Dr. Todd believes so strongly that his research proves manipulation of funds in city government here, let him lay his cards on the table.

Let him file an injunction in district court. That is certainly one avenue to air his complaints, if they are valid and evidence of some wrong-doing.

Let him turn over his evidence to a grand jury. The jury meets Tuesday morning.

Let him prefer formal charges through Dist. Atty. George Dowlen, who may be reached this weekend at 488-3433.

The avenues are many for Dr. Todd to bring forth his research, air it publicly without innuendo and distortion, and accept, rejoice in or suffer the consequences.

But, let Dr. Todd, if indeed he cannot prove his implied charges, cease his efforts at undermining the local government he almost religiously claims to revere in his erstwhile campaign against regional planning.

Weather. . .

was not completely removed by the storm. A front quarter of the roof was blown away.

Johnny Byrd of No. 3 Bramblewood Lane in Hunsley Hills said he, his wife, and 11 children attending a birthday party at his home took shelter in their storm cellar but were able to hear the roaring sounds of the storm as it passed through the addition.

"My wife said it was a freight train," he said, "but when we saw the trees I knew it wasn't any freight train."

The storm knocked out the plate glass windows at Stuckey's on the Canyon expressway north of the city.

Most area farmers had not yet inspected their fields for hail damage early Saturday.

Apparently the heaviest hail was in a strip about 5 miles west of Canyon.

The rains were welcome relief from a 9-month drought which had reduced farmers' dryland wheat hopes as it reduced their crops.

A total of 1.50 inches of rain was reported at the courthouse in downtown Canyon while the official U.S. Weather Service reporting station for the city recorded 1.29 inches.

Happy residents in the southern part of the county reported 2.20 inches of moisture with light hail.

A total of 1.76 inches of rain was reported in Umbarger with slight hail damage to gardens and trees.

Larry Wynn at Buffalo Lake reported 1.3 inches of rain and said a small amount of water was standing in the dry lake bottom.

Ed Wieck, who lives 2 miles west of Umbarger reported about 2.25 inches of moisture with slight hail. He said damage to his still-suffering wheat crop would be negligible.

Wieck said he returned from Canyon to his Umbarger area home about 11 p.m. and found the hail storm between the two towns to be "the worst I've ever seen."

Jim Fletcher, who farms in the north part of the county and who lives at Lake Tanglewood, said he received about 2 inches of moisture with small hail.

Bob McCasland, who farms in the southwest portion of the county, reported about 1.8 inches of moisture with severe hail damage to garden plants and flowers. He said he had not yet viewed his wheat crop.

A Sunday Canyon resident in the eastern portion of the county reported heavy rains and small hail, but no major damage to any property.

Randall County remained under a tornado warning for about an hour and a half Friday night. The warning was lifted about 11:30 p.m. as a major storm cell originating west of Hereford, a cell which spawned a tornado about 6 miles northwest of that city, moved through the area.

The Friday night storm was the first tornado scare for Canyon area residents this spring and provided the first significant moisture since last August.

Article winners in the contest were Mary Caballero of Amarillo with "We Walked On The Front Of A Building." Mrs. Caballero is the wife of Dr. Emilio Caballero with the art department at West Texas State University and former resident of Canyon. Her entry won first place.

Second place was won by Anita Low of Canyon with her account, "Alibates: Llano Estacado, Stone of Witness." She is the wife of Dr. J. Edwin Low of Canyon.

Third place winner was Ann Brown of Canyon with a reminiscence on Laura V. Hamner. Mrs. Brown has authored several books and contributes a column, "Our World," for the Canyon Sunday News.

An honorable mention went to Jane Galloway for her article entitled "Three Steps To Success."

She is also from Canyon.

The business meeting was attended by 33 members and seven guests and included a luncheon. It was held in the home of Ann Brown with Lois Clifford, program chairman, introducing the guest speaker, Dr. Fred Rathjen, an associate professor of history at West Texas State University.

Dr. Rathjen spoke to the group on the viewpoint of a professional historian in relating regional history. He is the author of a recent publication by the University of Texas Press entitled "The Texas Panhandle Frontier."

During the business session, Mrs. Brown reminded members wishing to enter the short story contest to have their entries to Violet Hunsucker, Rt. 2, Box 82-B, Amarillo, Texas, 79101 by the deadline, June 1.

Next regular meeting for the group is scheduled at Wyatt's Cafeteria July 16 when Etta Lynch of Lubbock will discuss "the plotting of a book." Unique Services For Summer At Cottonwood Grove Crossing Religious services will begin Sunday, June 2, at 11 a.m. at the Cottonwood Grove in Palo Duro Canyon, just beyond the fifth water crossing.

The services are non-denominational and will begin a third consecutive summer worship series for park visitors. From the June beginning, the services will continue throughout July and August.

Last year, the unique services drew visitors from almost every state in the union in addition to guests from several foreign countries. Park personnel, area residents and visitors in the park are welcome to participate.

A cowboy lay preacher, J. C. Newton, will be in charge of the services and arrange for other lay preachers from throughout the area to serve in the pulpit. Ken and Louise Baker, also of Canyon, will lead the music which includes a small pump organ for accompaniment. Guests are also invited to provide their own musical instruments for accompanying at the services.

Retirement Tea For Two Sunday

A retirement tea honoring Lee Reeves and Cortez Dowlen was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. A.K. Goodman in Canyon.

About 25 fellow retired teachers of Canyon Public Schools were in attendance at the occasion as Reggie Reeves, son of Mrs. Reeves, presided in receiving guests at the door and his wife, Judy, served at the refreshment table where cake squares, nuts and coffee were served.

Roses, pink candles and a silver service complemented the table. Both Mrs. Reeves and Mrs. Dowlen are retiring from their positions at Rex Reeves Elementary School at the conclusion of the 1974 spring semester.

Fire Department To Host School

Canyon Fire Chief Jack Jennings announced this week the local volunteer fire department will be host to a first annual Canyon Area Fire Control School next fall.

The school will be conducted Sept. 17 and 18 at the Lindsey Training Field in West Canyon. Deputy Fire Chief Joe Rice will be the school coordinator. Professional instructors from throughout the Panhandle and from Abilene will be on hand for the school.

The school will be conducted by the Texas Fireman Training School of the Texas Engineering Extension Service.

Funeral Rites Held For Former Resident

Funeral rites for Mrs. Laura Moore, former Canyon resident, were conducted in Waco, May 7. Mrs. Moore had moved to Waco in 1970. She was formerly a registered nurse at Neblett Memorial Hospital here for better than 20 years.

subject matter in the first two years of college with specialization to come in the final two years.

Malzahn said the offering of the degree at WTSU will allow many persons who might formerly have had to pursue four years of traditional college work even after a two-year certification to complete a baccalaureate level education in just two more years.

He said that many colleges throughout the country are examining the new degree route as demand increases among those with two-year technical certification to complete education.

The new degree program would probably not fit into the traditional mold for attaining a bachelor of science or bachelor of arts degree and would probably carry some other nomenclature, Malzahn said.

send the measure back to the judiciary committee for revision. The delegates voted again Thursday morning with the same result.

The judiciary section has been assured of controversy almost since its inception with many county judges criticizing the section on lay county judges as well as a section which would send all fine money and court cost money to Austin rather than to the county's coffers.

The judiciary article is the offspring of a special report issued last year by a study committee headed by Chief Justice Robert Calvert. Calvert also headed the Constitutional Revision Commission which drafted a proposed Texas basic document prior to the convening of the constitutional convention last January.

Financing for the construction will come primarily from federal revenue sharing monies and from reserve funds in the general and water and sewer funds. An amount totalling about $190,000 will be financed through the issuance of certificates of obligation for a period of 5 to 10 years.

Members of the local bi-centennial committee hope they can receive official recognition through state and national committees by June 19 so Randall County and Canyon can be full fledged participants in special bi-centennial ceremonies scheduled to precede the gala opening of "TEXAS."

The ceremonies are expected to include Anne Armstrong, top bicentennial advisor to President Nixon as well as state and national bicentennial committee chairmen.

George Lokey of Amarillo, a member of the Panhandle Region Bicentennial Committee steering group, said the Presidential advisor has been invited to the ceremonies which will begin about 8 p.m. Wednesday June 19 at Pioneer Amphitheatre.

He said representatives from bicentennial committees from throughout the Panhandle area — representing as many as 25-30 committees — will be on hand for the ceremonies, to be officially recognized and receive the official bicentennial flags designed at the national level.

Certification as official bicentennial cities or counties will also be given the representatives.

Lokey said the certifications will be the largest number presented at one time.

The ceremonies are set at 8 p.m., 30 minutes prior to the 8:30 show time for "TEXAS," which opens its ninth season in the amphitheatre that night. The show will run nightly through the summer months.

Earlier in the day, representatives of the various bicentennial committees as well as Amarillo and area civic and business leaders will attend a luncheon sponsored by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce with Mrs. Armstrong expected to be the keynote speaker.

The luncheon and the evening ceremonies under the stars in Palo Duro Canyon will be the first official activities to kick off the bicentennial celebration as a Panhandle-wide affair.

scaped area between the museum and old library on campus.

The committee will also work with the Canyon city commission on plans to include a new library in a proposed $1.3 million city hall. Furnishing of the library and acquisition of new books will be given a high priority for the committee, according to its proposal.

The Festival Committee will work with the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation to develop a sound and light show in the Palo Duro Canyon Pioneer Amphitheatre. The production, currently being written by Pulitzer-prize winner Paul Green, will be presented when the musical-drama "TEXAS" is not playing in the canyon.

The committee will also develop an arts and crafts exhibit in conjunction with the annual Canyon Days Celebration scheduled around the fourth of July each year. The exhibits will serve as a vehicle for junior high and high school students to display their skills and also for displays from various ethnic cultures in the area.

Currently, the committee is working with the WTSU history department and the Panhandle Plains Historical Society in developing a catalogue of resources which will be made available to public schools and civic groups so they may develop their own programs to celebrate the bicentennial. The catalogue will consist of film strips, slide and sound productions, publications and other devices available.

possibility to see that the rates charged are fair and reasonable to the citizens of the town," he said.

The electric company received a rate increase in 1967.

The rates proposed by the company, to become effective in September if approved, would apply to all residential, governmental and commercial users in the city.

The increase would give the company a new rate of return on investment of 6.61 per cent compared with a 1973 rate of return of 5.87 per cent. Additional revenue of $73,592 would be generated by the rate increase from Canyon consumers.

Louder said he will prepare a recommendation for city commission consideration on June 4 as to whether to join with other communities to study the rate hike or whether to pursue a study locally.

First United Pentecostal Church

1319-5th Ave.

HOW WE WORSHIP.

Whether you have already visited us or not, perhaps there are some parts of our worship that may puzzle you. Let us explain.

THE FIRST CHURCH.

The first church was established in the New Testament and was founded on the Day of Pentecost. This is plainly recorded in the second chapter of the Book of Acts, verses 1-4. All of the original churches such as Ephesians, Corinthians and Philippians were established on this same Pentecostal experience. For instance, the founding of the churches at Ephesus is recorded in Acts 19:1-6. Read Acts 2:38, 39; Galatians 1:8.

WE SING AND WORSHIP ALOUD WITH ALL OUR HEARTS.

In the Bible we read, "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all the earth: make a loud noise, and rejoice, and sing praise. Sing unto the Lord with the harp, with the harp, and the voice of psalm. With trumpets and sound of cornet make a joyful noise before the Lord, the King." (Psalms 98:4-6).

WE ALL PRAY TOGETHER.

because —

In the Bible we read, "... They lifted up their voice to God with one accord..." (Acts 4:24).

WE ANOINT WITH OIL FOR DIVINE HEALING.

because —

In the Bible we read, "Is any sick among you? Let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord: And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him." (James 5:14, 15).

ATTENTION CANYON VOTERS!

WHY NOT CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING ALTERNATIVE TO BUILDING AN EXPENSIVE CITY HALL COMPLEX?

DON'T YOU THINK the Neblett Hospital would make a most USABLE and ADEQUATE FACILITY to house the City Government offices and the Police Station?

Neblett Hospital will be vacant by the end of the year. Then, the City of Canyon could move the City offices and the Police Station into the Neblett Building, which could be acquired and adapted at a MINIMAL COST, leaving YOUR WATER AND SEWER CAPITAL INTACT.

IN THIS WAY, we can build a NEW LIBRARY AND FIRE STATION without endangering our WATER AND SEWER SYSTEM. The LIBRARY should PROPERLY be placed in a SEPARATE FACILITY of its own, and NOT CROWDED into the PROPOSED COMPLEX.

A new FIRE STATION may not be needed at this time if WE RENO-VATE and EXPAND the present facilities.

Progress is good and necessary for Canyon. The need for adequate facilities is recognized. . . . DON'T YOU BELIEVE THAT ALTERNATIVES EXIST THAT WOULD NOT STRIP YOUR WATER AND SEWER FUNDS?

Spanish Culture Impressive To Cockrells

By LORENE MILLER

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cockrell of Canyon have recently returned from a ten day sightseeing trip which took them to view the splendor of palaces in Spain and learn about the native customs in both Spain and Morocco.

The Cockrells were with a tour group of several hundred persons who were sponsored by the Southern Farm Bureau Insurance Company, where he works as district sales manager in this area.

Departing from Amarillo, the Cockrells arrived in Madrid, Spain by way of airlines from Dallas and Kennedy Airport in New York City. While out of town, their children, Dana, a son 21; Jennifer, 19; Cathy, 14; and Joe Ben, 12, remained here with their grandparents coming over to stay with them.

Recalling the trip, Mrs. Cockrell said that the Royal Palace in Madrid was bedecked using the wealth of the nation and is now in use only when VIP's come to visit the royalty. "I couldn't believe such splendor," she stated.

"The Generalissimo Franco is now 82 and has been heading the country since the revolution and during this time they have leveled out the slums and built apartments paying 75 per cent of the cost by the government with the people allowed to purchase their own apartments with a 20 year pay loan," she related.

"The main support seems to be from tourists," she commented. "Our guide told us that they have a population of about 3 million with a floating million, which is the tourists, I presume."

"If you build a new house there now, you would be building on the ruins of people who have lived there centuries ago," stated Mrs. Cockrell. "It is very beautiful there with their white villages and splendor in the castles, but there is so much separation of class and the people don't have a chance to gain any better position no matter how hard they work or what they accumulate — we like our set-up better here at home and it is more workable too."

Speaking of the castles and the Prado Museum, Mrs. Cockrell learned a lot about the masterworks of their paintings. She viewed the many paintings at the museum by the national artists, Diego Velazquez De Silva and Francisco De Goya Y. Lucientes, but had received a book on Spanish artists and their work shortly before leaving for the trip and had studied the aspects of their art during the plane flight over.

"Many of their ceilings were filled with paintings and tapestries were beautiful to behold," related Mrs. Cockrell.

During their stay in Spain, the group took a sidetrip to the southern portions of Spain visiting in Marbella and Costa del Sol near the Mediterranean Sea. She recalled that the Mediterranean "was blue and very lovely."

They saw the bullfights in Torre Molinos and "you were really for the matador and not the bull," she stated. Outside Madrid the tour group went to the dead soldier rites for soldiers who died in the revolution during 1936-39. The rites were held at a special encampment built into the side of the mountain which was bedecked inside with tapestry walls.

They also toured Toledo near Madrid which is one of the oldest cities in Spain and was the former capitol of Spain. Their tour guide, Marissa, told the group that any new building must be constructed with old styling and the cities are all in white due to the cooler effect.

At Mejas in the mountains "we were met by traveling troubadours bearing their trays of wine then served a big barbecue luncheon," Margaret Cockrell recalled.

After collecting their bring-home souvenirs in Spain and seeing the culture and sights in the country, the group travelled to Hidroala which is a water skimming plane over to Tangiers and Morocco by way of the "Rock of Gibraltar."

Events that she recalled vividly from the Moroccan visit were the guide who was costumed in his skull cap and long robe but had a special liking for her husband's golf hat.

She found that leather and ceramic goods were the best souvenir finds there although the couple brought home an engraved silver and brass knife for their youngest son, Joe Ben.

"In Morocco the women still wear their veils," she said. "I took a photograph of a beautiful lady through the bus window and she nodded but did not lift her veil."

Prior to departing for home, the Cockrells and their group had a special meal at a restaurant which had the Mediterranean view from one side of the building and the Atlantic Ocean from the other.

"We had shish-kabobs with onions, pepper, and light and dark meat," she said. "We found that the light meat was some type of snake and the dark meat was goat."

As always, "I was ready to get home to my own kitchen and stir up a pan of scrambled eggs," she concluded.

SURROUNDED WITH SOUVENIERS Mrs. Ben Cockrell is shown looking over colored photographs taken during a recent ten day trip to Spain and Morocco. She went on the trip with husband, Ben, who received the trip as district sales manager for this area with the Southern Farm Bureau Insurance Company.

The end of school will include several activities for youths beginning with a "Tune-In Week" from June 3-8 according to the newsletter of the First Baptist Church. There will be a variety of youth fellowship activities including a track meet at West Texas State, a trip to the canyons, golfing and homemade ice cream at Thompson Park, bowling at the Activities Center, and good Bible study also.

Vacation Bible School teachers will meet at the Central Church of Christ Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m. The teacher's meeting will also include other Bible class teachers of the church.

Vacation Bible Schools A Part Of Churchlife

Vacation church schools set for June include the following: First Baptist Church VBS during June 2-9;

Central Church of Christ VBS set June 3-7.

The combined efforts of several churches will result in the Ecumenical Vacation Church School to run June 11-14 and June 18-21 for children age 3 on or before Sept. 1, 1973 through fourth grade with fifth and sixth grade level students having a day camp VCS in Palo Duro Canyon June 10-14. The Ecumenical school is participated in by First Presbyterian Church, First Christian Church, St. Ann's Catholic Church, Chapel of St. George (Episcopal), St. Paul's Lutheran Church and United Methodist Church.

Several local churches are not planning VBS activities including the Canyon Hills Church of Christ, United Pentecostal Church, and Southside Baptist Church.

VBS information has not been completed for the Grace Baptist Church, Canyon Church of the Nazarene or Faith Chapel here.

The First Assembly of God Church in Canyon will not conduct a Vacation Bible School this year, according to Mrs. A. J. Pettit. "We have had rather successful activities during the summer with our Children's Revival and plan to have a revival of this sort again during the summer months — but no date has been set yet."

"Beginning Upholstery" will be offered for five weeks beginning June 11. This class is being offered by the Community Education service of the Canyon Independent School District.

This class, which will meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Tuesday and Thursdays, will be taught by Mrs. Lorraine Johnson at Gene Howe School. Minimum age for the course is 14. The fee for the course is $25 per person.

Students will have use of sewing machine, clamps and various tools. Students will be instructed as to small items they will need to purchase for their particular projects.

Mrs. Ormsby Retires Scouting Post

Mrs. R. J. Ormsby of 401 Taylor Lane has taken off her cap as district chairman for Girl Scouting here.

Mrs. Ormsby has served in the district chairmanship position for three years, and prior to that was on the board as a member at large for two years.

She has been active in a leadership capacity with Canyon Girl Scouting for many years and has served as troop leader for a number of years although she first began her scouting activities with the Cub Scouts.

"I started out as a leader when Stoney, our son, was that age — of course he is grown now and married to the former Roy Ann Zumwalt of Amarillo," she said. Stoney and his wife live in Arlington, Texas.

"I first began Girl Scouting back when my daughter, Connie, was in the second grade and wanted to become a Brownie," she said. "They were needing leaders then as we always do in scouting."

When the Ormsbys younger daughter, Pattie, became eligible for Brownies, Mrs. Ormsby continued as a leader for both troops in which her girls were involved. "It was a lot of work but a lot of fun too seeing my girls and their friends learn about nature and begin their interest in scouting," she related.

Her daughters, now both grown, are graduates of Canyon High School as is Stoney. Connie is still living at home and is attending West Texas State University where she will be a senior student in the fall.

Bernard Buecker Earns BA Degree

Bernard John Buecker received the Bachelor of Arts Degree from Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos, Texas.

Buecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Buecker of Umbarger, is an honor graduate and member of Alpha Chi, Delta Phi Alpha and Pi Gamma Mu honor societies and was nominated for the Lyndon Baines Johnson Outstanding Senior Student Award.

He will attend the University of Texas School of Law in September.

attending one year at West Texas State and is this summer working in Wichita Falls with one of her friends on an assembly bench type job with Sprague Electric there.

With her children grown, Mrs. Ormsby has now resigned her position with the Canyon Girl Scouting program although she has pledged her support where it can be most beneficial in continuation of the cookie sales project which is a major funding effort for the troops.

"The girls sell their cookies and this year we had our sale early enough so that the girls could use their own portion of the troop funds for their campouts and other activities," she said.

Canyon's Girl Scouting program has ten troops with about 15-25 girls in each troop, according to Mrs. Ormsby. "It takes a lot of mothers willing to give their time and talent as leaders to keep the scouting program successful."

She stated that the scouting program in Canyon is a district of itself. Other Panhandle districts include Dumas and Panhandle along with Amarillo which has been divided into three large districts. Gene Howe Elementary, which is a school of the Canyon Independent School District, has its scouting program through a district in Amarillo now.

The Ormsbys have lived in Canyon for about 23 years and are members of the United Methodist Church here. Her husband, who is a carpenter, now specializes in cabinet building and is employed with Simpson Homes of Amarillo.

Canyon schools will be looking for three new coaches prior to the beginning of the fall football season. Ricky Mantooth, the only high school coach stepping down, will go to strictly classroom work. Ron Mills said that he will be looking for an offensive line coach. Mantooth coached offensive ends in football. He was also girls golf coach and assisted with the basketball program.

Two junior high coaches will be moving on to new schools. Rick Stewart will be going to Hereford High School to become line coach for the football team. Danny Haney will go to Corpus Christi to become head coach and athletic director at a junior high school there. Stewart, who has been with Canyon schools for two years, will also work with the baseball program at Hereford. Stewart, originally from Pampa, served as a graduate assistant for three years at WTSU. He is married to Rhonne Elaine, daughter of Gene Mayfield.

Haney has been with Canyon schools for three years. He is a graduate of WTSU.

Scott Wilson has been invited to participate in the Kline Relays in Houston in June. This meet is only for the top tracksters in the state. At the meet, the athletes will have opportunity to qualify for the Junior Olympics.

Wilson, who tied the 14 feet 6 inch winning mark in the state meet, vaulted as high as did 4-A vaulters at the state meet.

Jimmy Ward, junior at Canyon High School, looks good for his senior year in football coming up this fall. Ward, who made all-district fullback this past year, has gained from 165 lbs. to 180. Mills said that Ward has gained speed along with his weight. Mills said that much of next year's offense will be built around him.

The "C" Club at Canyon High School is planning to leave June 1 for a camping trip to Possum Kingdom. They will return June 3. All boosters and, or parents interested in going as sponsors are invited.

Coach Mills said that 4-A schools have an advantage with the opportunity for spring training. He said that they get in three weeks extra each year. When figured over a four year period, this means one year of football more than 3-A schools get.

Mills said that 4-A schools get to look at the new kids coming up and can change some around to new positions. Mills feels that this enables 4-A schools to have their team set when school starts in the fall.

Swim Team Open To All Ages

The West Texas Swim Team Program for all ages initiates its first season this summer with registration June 2 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the West Texas State University activities center.

Swim Coach Bruce Bove described the competitive swim training classes as a great place "for exercise and companionship" and summer fun.

Morning and afternoon swim practices will be held Monday through Friday through August 18 (11 weeks), and will consist of conditioning, stroke instruction, starts, turns and instruction in other pertinent areas.

The morning class will be specifically for swimmers with competitive backgrounds, and runs from 8 to 10 a.m. The afternoon class begins at 4 p.m. for swimmers who wish to learn the techniques of competitive swimming, with special emphasis on stroke training.

The classes are open to all ages. "They don't have to be good swimmers," Bove noted, "but they do need to know how to swim."

The West Texas Swim Team is affiliated with the Amateur Athletic Union, and members will have the opportunity to compete in a number of local, state-wide and national swim meets throughout the summer. The team will practice in the WTSU 50-meter pool located in the Student Activities Center.

Each swimmer will be given individualized instruction and attention. For one student 11 years and older, the monthly fee is $10 pool rental, $8 for coaching and $2 for equipment. The second swimmer from a family pays pool rental and coaching, and the third pays only pool rental.

For swimmers 10 years old and younger, the monthly fees are $5 pool rental, $8 coaching and $2 for equipment with a similar graduated charge decrease with each additional family member. The pool rental fee is based on two practices per day, and will be adjusted if only one is desired.

Coach Bruce Bove has coached swimmers of all ages, from six years through college-age men and women. Currently head swimming and diving coach at West Texas State University, Coach Bove has served as head swimming coach at Boeing Swim Club in Kansas City, Kansas. He also served as assistant swimming coach at the University of Kansas for two years and head diving coach and assistant swimming coach for the Amarillo Public Schools.

Bove's 14 years of experience began in Kansas, where he swam in various clubs through high school. He then accepted a swimming scholarship to the University of Kansas, where he competed for four years and was captain of the team his senior year. In 1970, he was selected to the "All Big-Eight" Swimming Team in the 500 and 1650 yard freestyle events.

Pool Will Open Saturday

SPLASH DAY for the Canyon City Swimming Pool will be Saturday, June 1, beginning at 1:30 p.m. with official opening of the city pool.

Swimming on opening day will conclude at 7 p.m. Admission will be 35 cents for students per day and 50 cents for adult day rates. Season passes may be obtained from the pool manager, Robbie Berry, at $12.50 for student season or $40 for family season passes.

Regular hours for the summer will be 1:30 to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday with 2-6 p.m. being the swimming hours for Sundays. The poolside phone will be 655-9712.

After regular closing hours, the pool will be available for rent to groups at $5 per hour. Arrangements for renting may be made with the manager, Robbie Henry, and all renting groups must furnish their own qualified lifeguard for their parties.

Lifeguards serving for the summer will be Jerre Tucker, Jo Beth Price, Linda Dudenhoefter and the manager.

Kitchens Elected President Of MVC Track Coaches

West Texas State University's Bob Kitchens was elected president of the Missouri Valley Conference track coaches for the 1974-75 school year this past week end in Denton.

Kitchens, who has just completed his fifth year as coach of the Buffaloes, was elected to the office during the conference spring championships.

The 29-year-old Kitchens guided his team to a fourth place finish in the MVC Outdoor Championships, which were completed Monday. That is one place higher than the Buffaloes had placed in that meet in three tries since becoming members of the conference in the summer of 1970.

Kitchens directed his team to a second place finish in the MVC Indoor Championships in 1971. He is also the Buffalo cross country coach.

A Texas Tech graduate, Kitchens earned his masters' degree at West Texas State. While at Texas Tech, he ran the 100, 220 and sprint relay. He recorded a 9.7 time in the 100 and had a best of 21.3 in the 220.

He remained at Texas Tech for two years as a student assistant coach before coming to West Texas State.

Bill Moore, leading punter on the Baylor Bears Freshman team last year, as well as third leading rusher, returns for his sophomore year at Baylor. Offensive Backfield Coach Dan Shealy says this about Moore: "He improved greatly as a receiver and wingback this spring. He has tremendous attitude and should be in a position to see a great deal of action this fall." Moore is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Moore of Canyon.

WT Now Selling Season Tickets

Orders for 1974 West Texas State University season football tickets are now being accepted by the athletic department ticket office.

Those persons who hold season football tickets from 1973 have until June 15 to renew those ticket locations.

Orders which are presently being received will be assigned ticket locations on a first come, first serve basis following the June 15 deadline for renewals.

The Buffaloes host five opponents this fall, including three Missouri Valley Conference rivals. The Buffs open their season on the road Sept. 14 at Des Moines, Iowa, against MVC opponent Drake.

The Buffs open their home schedule Sept. 21 against New Mexico State University, another conference foe. Other home games are Sept. 28 against Wichita State, Oct. 5 against Southern Mississippi University, Nov. 2 against Lamar University and Nov. 16 against North Texas State University.

Wichita State and North Texas State are the other two conference opponents at home for the Buffaloes of coach Gene Mayfield.

The games against New Mexico State, Wichita State and Southern Mississippi start at 7:30 p.m., while the final two contests — against Lamar and North Texas State — will have a 1:30 p.m. starting time.

Season tickets for the five home games are $25 for chair seats and $20 for bench seats, which is a savings of one dollar per game on tickets purchased by the individual game. The regular price of chair seats is $6, but when purchased as a season ticket the price is $5. Bench seats regularly sell for $5, but are $4 when sold as season tickets.

West Texas State faces six opponents on the road this fall, including three MVC members. Besides Drake on Sept. 14, the Buffaloes play at Tulsa Oct. 19 and Louisville Nov. 30 in other MVC games.

Non-conference road games are against Idaho Oct. 12, Utah State Oct. 26 and Tampa Nov. 9.

Season ticket requests should be sent to the West Texas State University Ticket Office, P.O. Box 4, W.T. Station, Canyon, Tex. 79016. The athletic ticket office number is 656-3436.

Community Ed-Public Schools Gone Public

"The Community Education Program is the public school gone public," states Dr. Ken Hart, Vocational Director at Canyon High School. This is the purpose that Canyon Independent School District had in mind when the concept of Community Ed was started here.

According to Hart, Community Ed is the school which opens its doors to the full community, bringing adults and even some students back into the classroom and laboratory after the regular academic day is over. The Community Ed Program offers a full range of social, educational and recreational services designed to meet the needs of all the people it serves.

"Community Education did not just happen in the Canyon ISD," stated Hart. It was a product of the school board and superintendent Jerry Jacobs who were not content with the status quo in education. They believe that schools should not be locked at 4 p.m. every day and that the schools are the property of the citizens who build and support them.

According to Hart, it was this line of thought that led to the conclusion that schools should be made available to the people of the community. Hart states that education of the children must remain the first priority of the school system but schools could also be helping meet the community needs in other ways.

The Bells...

From the Canyon News story about the "ringing bells" at Umbarger it brought a question to mind: "Were the taxpayers footing a 5-year electric bill?" NO said Carroll Wilson, news editor, the electric breaker had been turned on after service was discontinued at the former school building but for some reason the breaker had not been turned off and "thus the bells — but no bills."

Readin' And Writin'

Garage sales are a current rage throughout the country with many homemakers giving their time and "used items" to a good cause. Although most items sell quite cheap by modern new pricing methods in this day of runaway inflation the wary homemaker can often purchase a needed item and get many years use from it before selling it in her own garage sale as "junk."

Besides it is a lot of fun to see the neighbor's cast-offs and gives many families a chance to entertain themselves rather inexpensively!

"Meals on Wheels" is in need of regular and substitute drivers for the summer months. Regular drivers are asked to drive four times each month. Anyone interested in helping with the project may contact Betty Rathjen at 655-3584.

Read where three Canyon students and one from Happy were graduates of Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo last Thursday evening where State Senator Max Sherman was the guest speaker for commencement. Canyon graduates included James M. Lovelady, Tim L. Payne, and Charles Huber. Graduating from Happy was Randy Bell. The class of graduates included 128 students from throughout the Panhandle.

Memorial Day will be Monday and the Canyon Public Schools will have a regular routine of classes for students. It is expected, however, that the holiday will be a high absentee count for the school system with many local parents being off work for the holiday.

Among those planning retirement this year will be K. E. Hines with the Santa Fe Railway station in Canyon. Hines has been stationmaster at the local depot for many years. In his retirement, Mr. Hines will have the opportunity to hear many Canyon youngsters learn about piano through the lessons conducted by his wife at their home now.

Several Canyon housewives have been gathering up their "material scraps" to give to Mrs. X in an effort to help a local family. Mrs. X is unable to work outside the home as she must remain there to care for her husband, the victim of a series of strokes and heart disease. Although she is required to take constant care of her ailing husband, Mrs. X is making extra money for the family by quilting and taking in ironings. Their only other means of income is the Social Security check.

Others who would like to "clean out their scrap box" may bring sacked and boxed material scraps for Mrs. X to the Canyon News offices at 1500 5th Avenue and these items will then be given to the family.
